WHAT IS GELATO

A favorite in Italy since the late 1400's. Gelato is the Italian version of ice cream. It differs from other ice creams in several ways. Most ice creams on the market today have 18% to 25% butterfat content. In a 5 oz. serving of our "cream" flavors, Divino Gelato contains only 4-8% butterfat and 140-180 calories. Our fruit flavors "Sorbetto's" contain less than 1% butterfat with 120-160 calories.

With significantly less butterfat, the flavor is intensified because fat coats the tongue and blocks the taste buds. Gelato has less air whipped into it; therefore it is more dense and smoother in texture.

Gelato is more nutritious than regular ice cream. Divino Gelato contains no egg yolks and much less sugar than most sherbets', frozen custards, and yogurts. Our fruit flavors are non-dairy based.

Here at Divino Gelato Café, our "Gelato" is made fresh daily in our kitchen by our chefs, just like in Italy.

We have 36 flavors to choose from daily from over 170 flavor recipes. We are sure you will find a favorite among them. Divino means "heavenly" in Italian, it is exactly what our Gelato is ...
